CHEERFUL CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS magic is silent.
You don't hear it, You feel it.
You know it, You Believe it

Whether you're into big celebrations or quiet moments, Christmas is a time to embrace the warmth and magic. We celebrated Christmas on 19th December 2025 with enormous enthusiasm. The campus looked bright and welcoming with beautifully decorated corridors. Colourful stars, bells, and wreaths made by students and teachers added a festive charm and warmed up the environment. The celebration began with a peaceful morning prayer, followed by a briefing about Christmas and the values of love, kindness, and forgiveness. This helped students understand the true spirit of the festival.

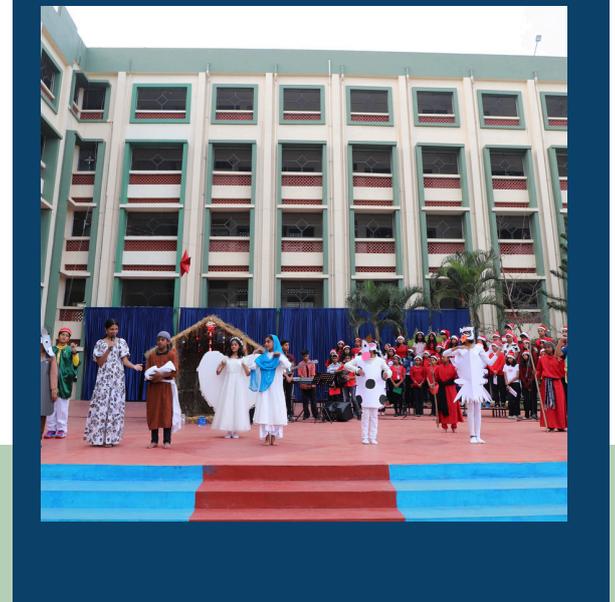

CHEERFUL CHRISTMAS

Merry Christmas

The highlight of the celebration was a creative skit on the nativity of Jesus Christ, presented through the voices of animals in the stable. This innovative skit was meaningful and heart-warming, conveying messages of love, humility, and peace. The school choir added to the festive mood by singing melodious Christmas carols.

The celebration became lively with beautiful dance performances, including an angel dance, a cheerful reindeer dance, a fun Santa Claus dance, and a performance to “Joy to the World.” Our Principal, Rev. Bro. O. J. Joseph, wished everyone a Merry Christmas, and the Chief Guest, Rev. Fr. Arokianathan, spoke about the significance of the festival. The grand entry of Santa Claus filled everyone with joy. The programme was memorable and truly reflected the spirit of Christmas.

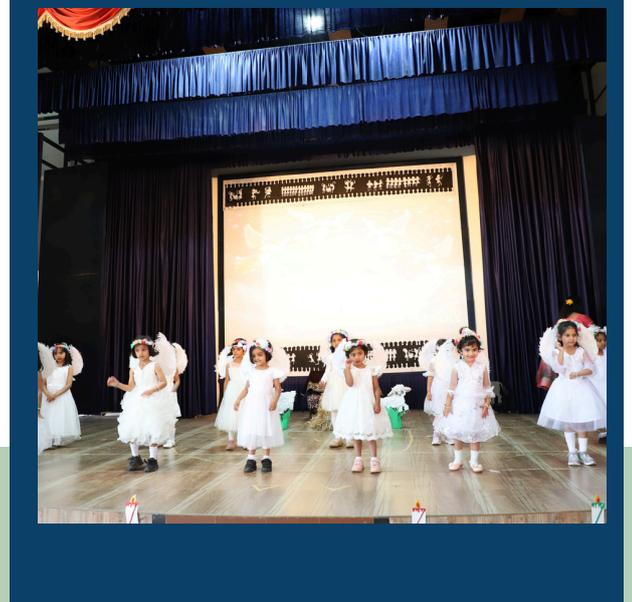

KINDERGARTEN CHRISTMAS

The Christmas celebration by the kindergarten was organised on 19th December 2025. An assembly was held in the auditorium, with teachers and students dressed in red and white attire, adding to the festive atmosphere.

A beautiful skit was enacted depicting the scenes of the nativity of Jesus Christ, incorporated with melodious carols sung by the children and various dance performances. The cheerful Christmas greetings were exchanged as the students danced to the melodious tunes of "We wish you a merry Christmas", with Santa Claus adding to the joy and excitement of the students.

Our principal, Rev. Bro. O. J. Joseph, addressed the children to spread good cheer and gave the message that "Christmas provides the perfect environment to spread the festive cheer, kindness and gratitude." His words resonated with the students, inspiring them to embrace the spirit of the season.

Outreach-Building Community

This year, St. Patrick's Academy, Bengaluru, organised several outreach programs that aided in the growth of students' social awareness and empathy. Students connected their learning with deeds of kindness by visiting Jeevodaya Ashram, Prison Ministry, Asha Bhavan, and Swanthana during the holiday season. These experiences not only enriched their understanding of various societal issues but also fostered a sense of responsibility towards the community. Their upbeat carols, skits, and performances filled every space with happiness and cheer. Additionally, the students donated money and shared necessities on behalf of the school. Their interactions with the residents had a greater influence on them than the festivities.

The students genuinely experienced the spirit of Christmas. Thanks to these visits, which also reinforced the school's goal of developing responsible and compassionate citizens.

The students of Classes IX and X went on an educational trip to Goa from 23.08.2025 to 26.08.2025. I realized that words are like a Volini spray: if you're careless and it gets in your eyes, it's a total disaster—nothing but stinging pain and tears. But if you apply it exactly where it's needed, it's the only thing that can actually soothe the ache.

In the current digital age, this turns out to be especially true. Personally, if I get a text which says, "K, fine." I'll straight up think the person texting is either as dry as the Sahara or they are pissed at me, all the while it could just be that the person is used to texting in a formal manner and really, has no hard feelings.

To them it could just be a single affirming message, while I'll be down a rabbit hole digging through what I have done to make them mad.

It's exhausting, really—constantly playing detective with subtext and wondering if a full stop at the end of a sentence is actually a silent declaration of war. But that's exactly why, despite the stress of it all, I still love words.

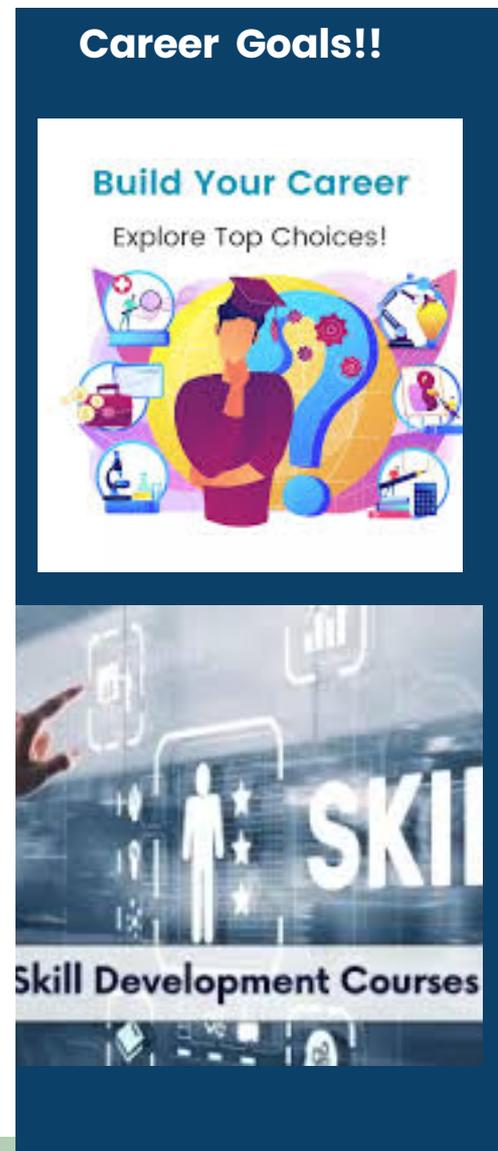

It's a reminder that we carry a massive responsibility every time we speak or hit 'send.'

The term "career prospects" refers to a person's chances for development, promotion, and success in a chosen field. For students, career planning is crucial in today's rapidly evolving world. As the job market continues to change, understanding these prospects helps individuals make informed decisions about their education and training. Students should actively network and pursue internships to enhance their employability and gain practical experience.

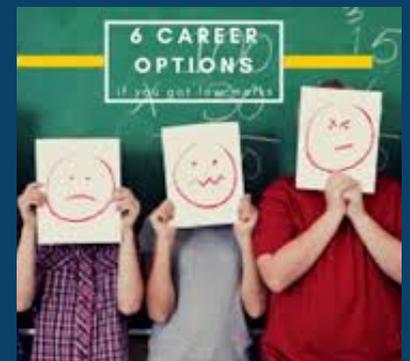

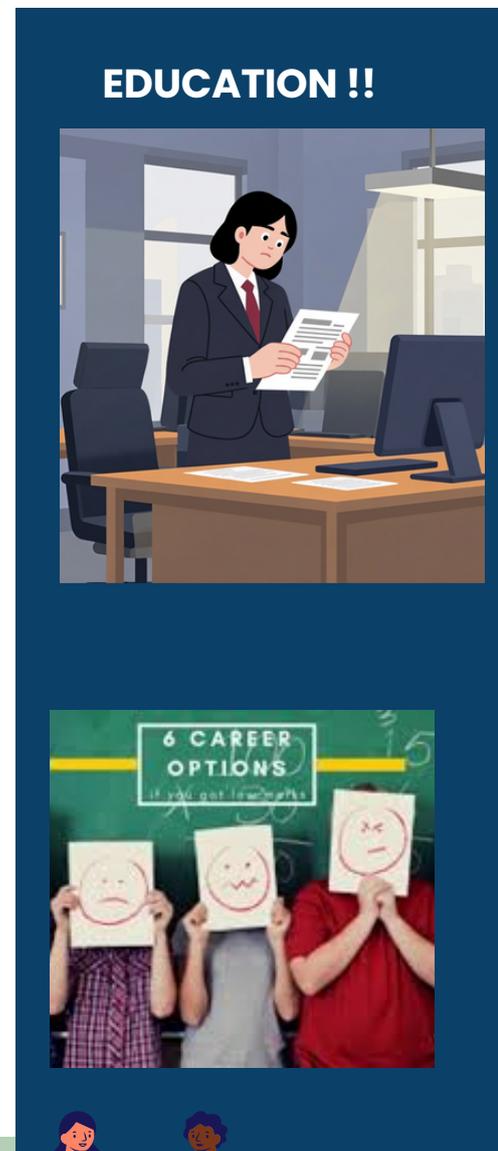

For choosing career specialisation requires a comprehensive understanding of the environment, including technological advancements, competition, and the scope of various fields. This awareness not only helps select the right path but also supports adaptation to future shifts within industries.

By remaining flexible and open to new learning opportunities, individuals can better position themselves for success in an increasingly competitive landscape. Individuals should choose a path that aligns with their long-term goals. When interests and abilities match, one is more likely to succeed and find fulfilment in their career. Education is the passport, and academic credentials provide a solid foundation of professional skills and knowledge. Employers today, however, look for more than just degrees. Communication, problem-solving, adaptability, and digital literacy are important skills for improving career prospects.

To summarise: education, skills, technological changes, global opportunities, and personal interests all influence career prospects. In today's competitive world, students must plan carefully, stay informed, and continually develop themselves. With the right guidance, dedication, and adaptability, every individual can build a successful and fulfilling career.

Scars We Wear

“

MOST OF THE EMOTIONAL SCARS WE RECEIVE ARE NOT LEFT BY OUR ENEMIES, BUT BY THOSE WHO SUPPOSEDLY LOVED US THE MOST.

There's a scar on each one of us.
A scar that exists in vain, on gain;
On a stain, on our own kind's pain;
On the guilt that we can never refrain.

There's a scar on each one of us.
A scar that thrives in spite, on smite;
On a rope so tight, bound by plight;
On the thorny roads of hate's might.

There's a scar on each one of us.
A scar that feeds off of blame,
of shame; Of claim, of someone else's name; To save ourselves and escape the frame.

There's a scar on each one of us.
A scar that lives on violence dense,
On a broken alliance, shattered reliance,
On murder, death, and its deafening silence.
“We humans are God's greatest creation.
” But are we really?

Emotional scars often run the deepest.
